

Cappiello: The Posters of Leonetto Cappiello

This hardcover book of 320 pages is the largest, most authoritative collection of Cappiello's work ever presented: 534 poster illustrations in full color, many never seen before. Detailed appraisals and annotations accompany each poster, as well as biographical information and an insight into Cappiello's graphic method. An additional 50 color illustrations show the many other facets of Cappiello's talents - from book and magazine illustrations, to paintings, maquettes, postcards and, most of all, his superb early caricatures. Cappiello is the Father of the Modern Poster. Today, more homes are decorated with his posters than those of any other artist in the world. This book goes a long way toward showing why.

Leonetto Cappiello (9 April 1875 - 2 February 1942) was an Italian and French poster art designer and painter, who mainly lived and worked in Paris. He is now Leonetto Cappiello (1875-1942): Italian Poster Artist, Lithographic Designer, Functionalism Style. Leonetto Cappiello made his name during the advertising poster boom period in the early 20th century. He elevated the advertising poster from the street to the OltrelAffiche.
